ei for Leaders

EI for Leaders helps school leaders develop their leadership practice. Its method is to provide leaders with feedback that gives them clear suggestions for achievable changes in behaviour that will make them better leaders.

Foundation Questions for Leadership feedback

Where are we going?

Individually, leaders must develop people so that they, on a personal level, feel a sense of forward movement and direction.

Why will we follow?

Encouraging people to follow comes down to well-developed relationships, modelling excellence through a personal commitment to improvement and modelling the change they want to see, and being a catalyst of change in the way others think and act.

How will we get there?

The effective leader is first an effective communicator, drives accountability, nurtures a positive culture and manages issues in a firm but fair manner.

Guiding Principles

One

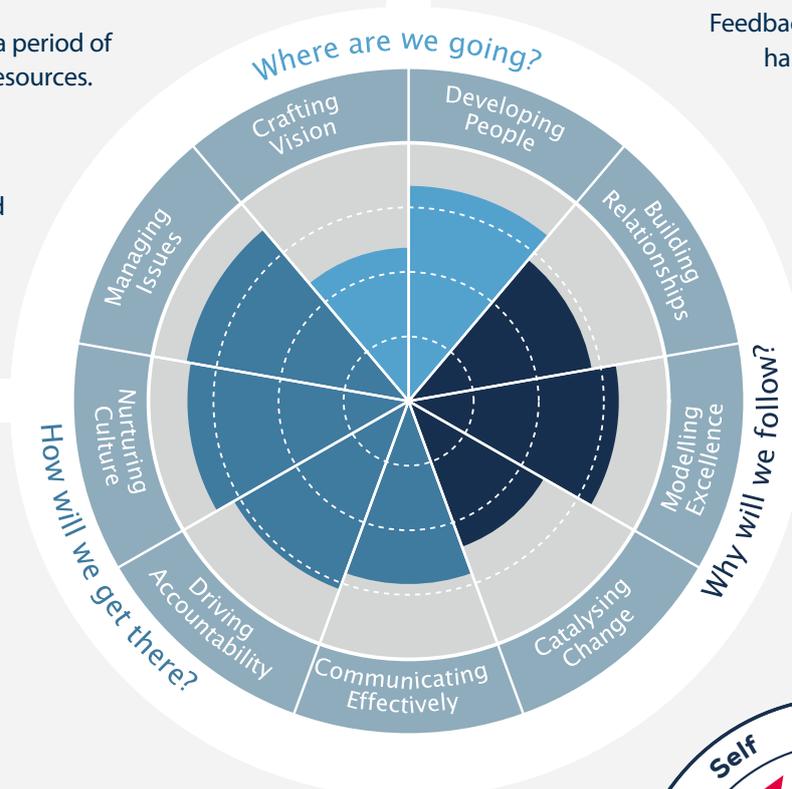

The nature of leadership must be recognised in the questions

Two

The techniques of leadership must be demystified by the answers.

Three

Feedback must be formative and happen in a safe, supported and simple way.

The EI for Leaders competency framework is structured according to the three most important questions a leader must anticipate:

1. Where are we going?
2. Why will we follow?
3. How will we get there?

Please write down any evidence or specific observations that you have relating to Crafting Vision.

Both sets a clear and strong vision, and communicates it well. The only issue that needs resolving is that the enthusiasm can be better as a result that seems out of touch in the eyes of the direct reports.
