

About Rob Cooper

Rob has over 16 years teaching experience, 11 of which have been in girls' schools. He is currently the Director of Sport at Lauriston Girls' School and previously was Head of Sport at Melbourne Girls' Grammar for three years. For Rob, teaching and running a sport programs within girls' schools has been a rewarding experience, and has allowed him to work with many inspiring women and students.

In his time as Director of Sport at Lauriston, Rob has focused on promoting sport to students of all abilities, helping girls to take part in new activities and sports and assisting them to excel to the highest level possible. As a result, there has been an increase in sporting opportunities available for girls and the school has seen in a huge increase in participation numbers.
